

Area reserved for the design

Please make sure that your design remains within the design area (pink line) and does not run into or over the landing (side of coin), the denomination (2 RAND) and the area reserved for the description of the right or freedom.

Line

The area between the border of the design area (pink line) and the dashed line is reserved for the description of the right or freedom you choose to illustrate. Usually the wording fits at the bottom, but can be extended to the right side of the coin, as indicated in the layout.
